

Course 200FACT – Flexible Access Clinical Training

Overview

The Flexible Access Clinical Training (FACT) program is designed to make Imago training programs more accessible to a broader range of people.

- Requires a lower cost initial commitment
- Attracts therapists who teach Imago from the “Getting The Love” book, and encourages them to experience first-hand the power of Imago clinical skills, and understand the value of continuing a training journey
- Matches flexibility offered by many competing approaches, enabling professionals to manage their training time around their other obligations
- Establishes the concept of an Imago Training journey, which does not end with Certification, but continues beyond
- Provides an effective way for trainings to be offered in a wider range of locations
- Provides a platform for increasing access to diverse groups by enabling us to take trainings into a wider range of locations and at lower starting cost
- Provides opportunities for educators to learn core dialogue skills, without committing them to also learn deeper regressive skills they are unlikely to use

The key features of the program are:

- Trainees can sign on for just one FACT module at a time
- Typically the Certification route would include the following:
 - FACT A – Two day training
 - FACT B – Two day training
 - Join an Imago Small Group clinical training (Course 200SG) to complete Part I of the Certification – Eight day training
 - Join a Level II supervision and practice group for six months prior to submitting final tape
 - Ongoing supervision and continuing education to maintain certification
